Project

Title: Effective Malware Detection using Deep learning and Support Vector Machine.

Technologies used : Machine Learning using Python language

Description used : The rapid growth of malicious software (malware) poses a significant threat to computer systems and network security. Traditional malware detection approaches struggle to keep pace with the constantly evolving techniques employed by malware authors. This project aims to develop an effective malware detection system by leveraging the power of deep learning and support vector machines (SVM). By combining the strengths of both techniques, we aim to improve detection accuracy and reduce false positives.
